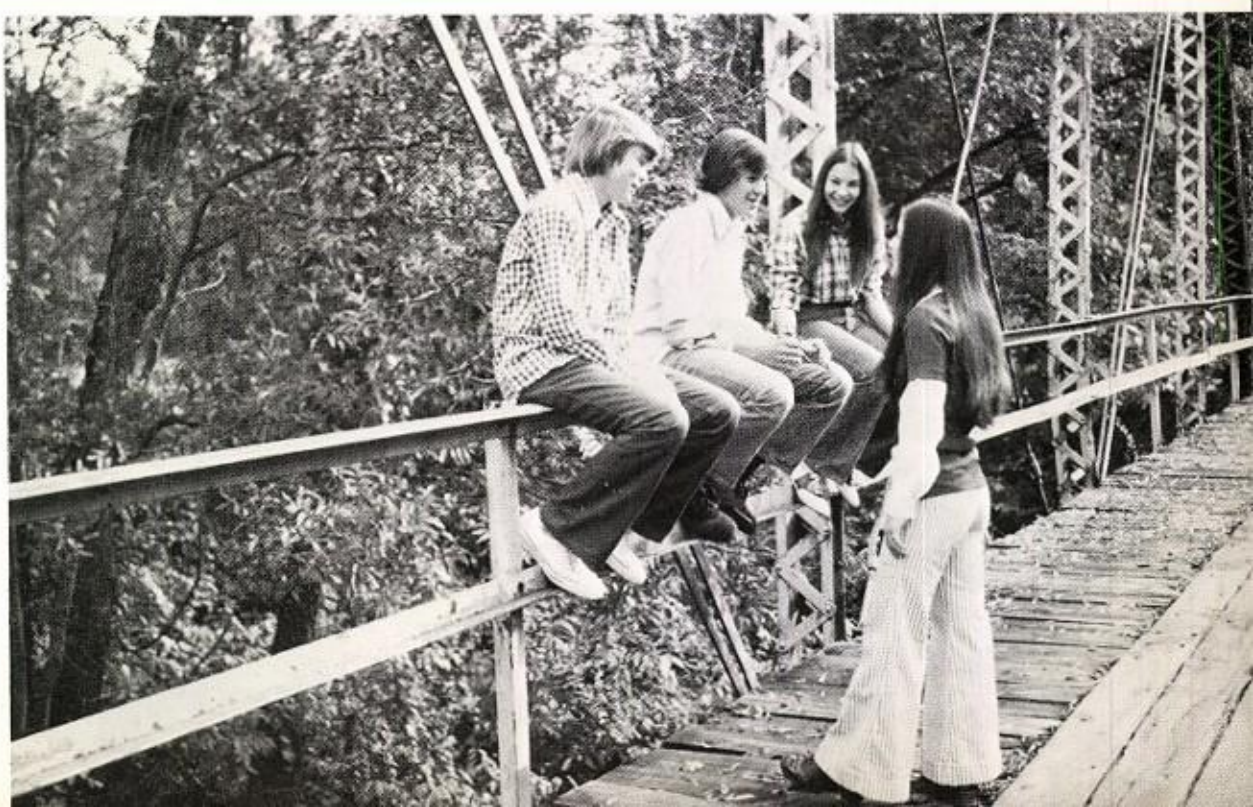
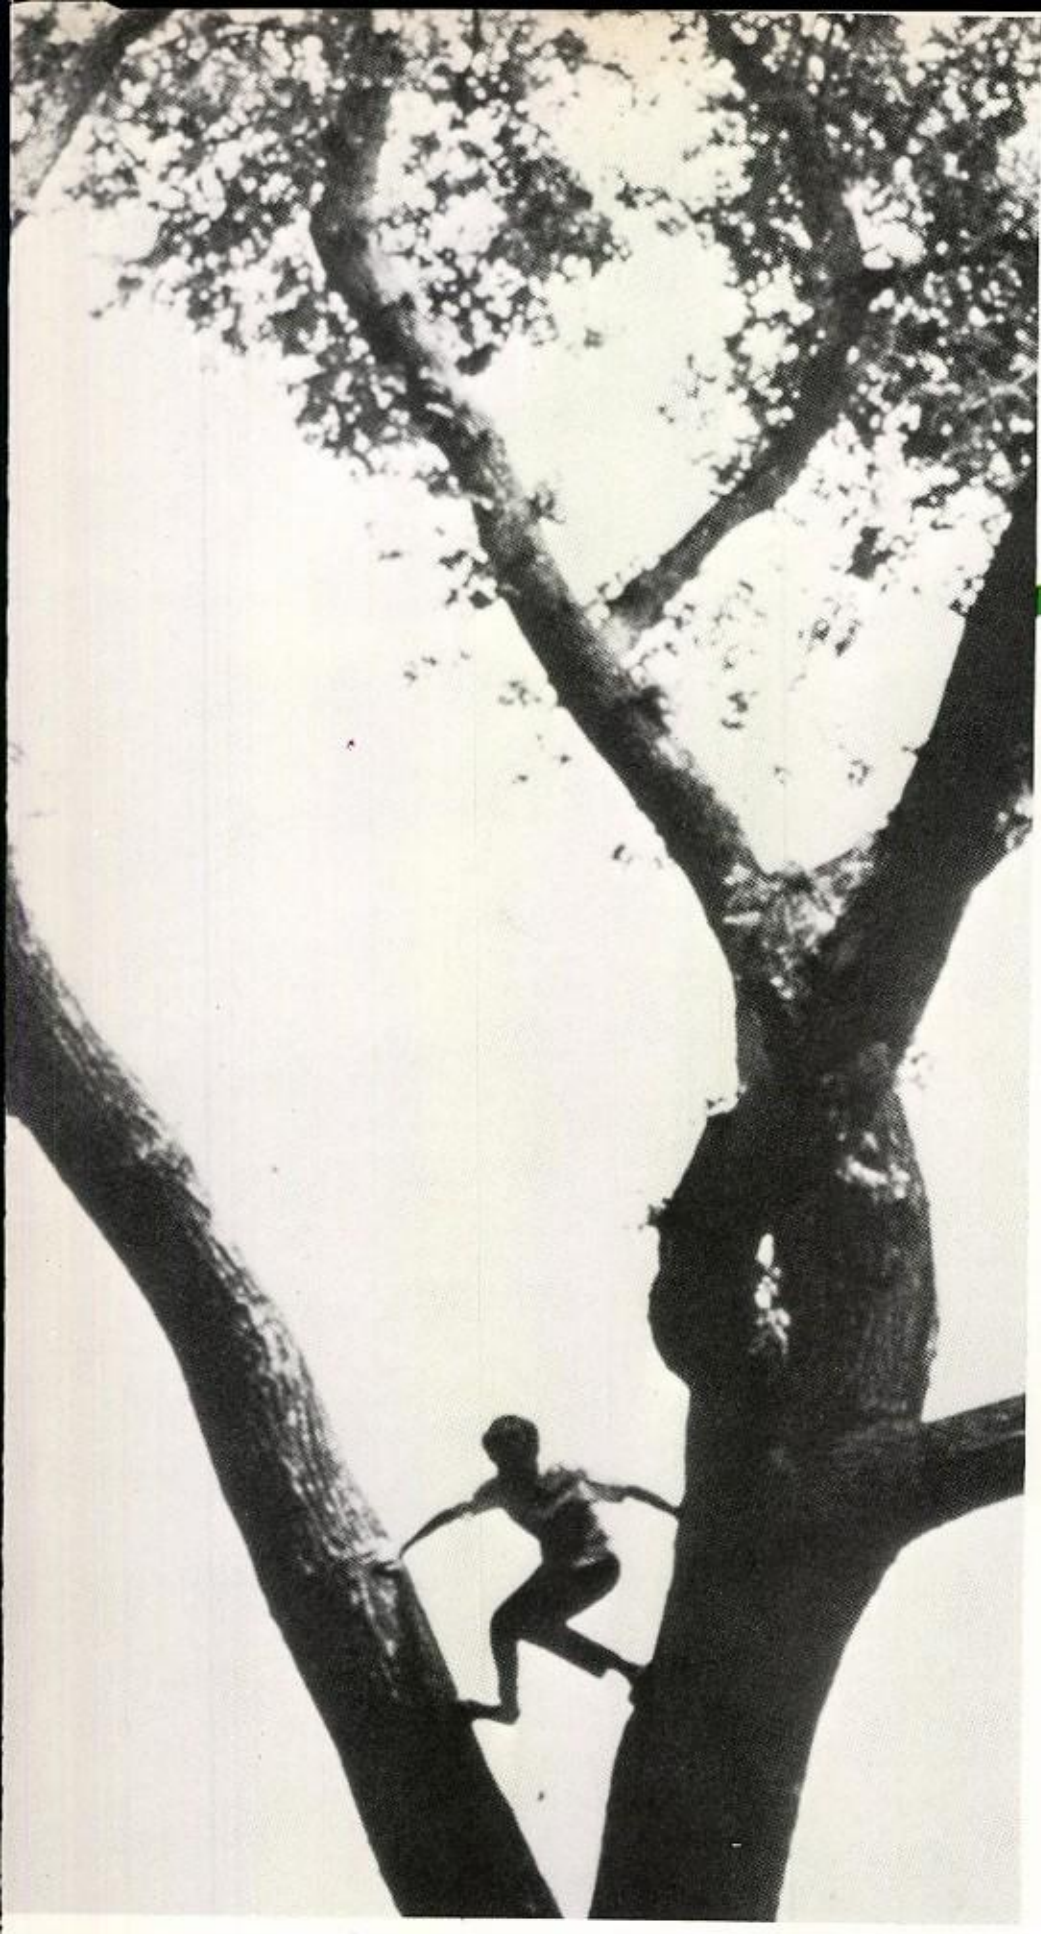
Yes, our lives are influenced by good ole country sunshine

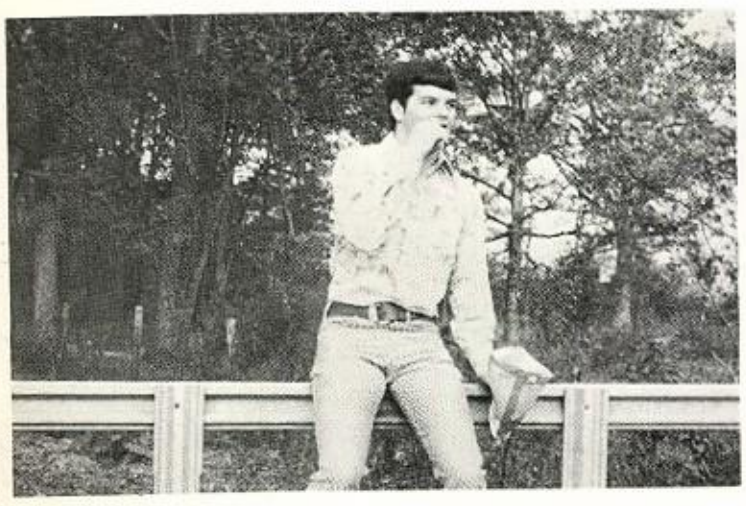
The seasons come and go, making room for each one as it follows the other in a graduation of harmony . . . And through each and all of them, we of the spacious land love its country sun in our faces, its warmth on our backs, from the time the roosters crow the mornings awake till croaking frogs bid the days good night.

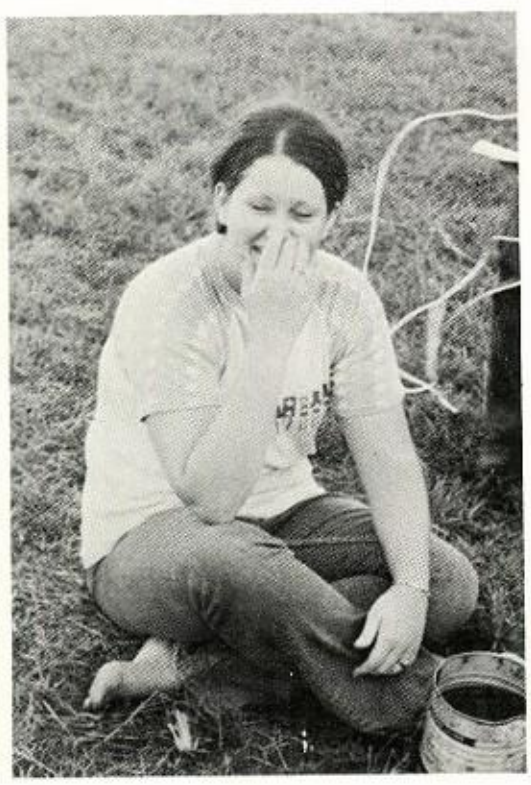
Walt Whitman's "O the joy of my spirit . . . O the joy of my youth" was from the heart of a countryman who loved the outdoor "sunshine life" as do we in a poet's land, hour and time . . . Ours is a place, a time to ever feel newborn . . . A life that spells it out "simplify!"





Nobody has more fun than 'country sunshine' kids

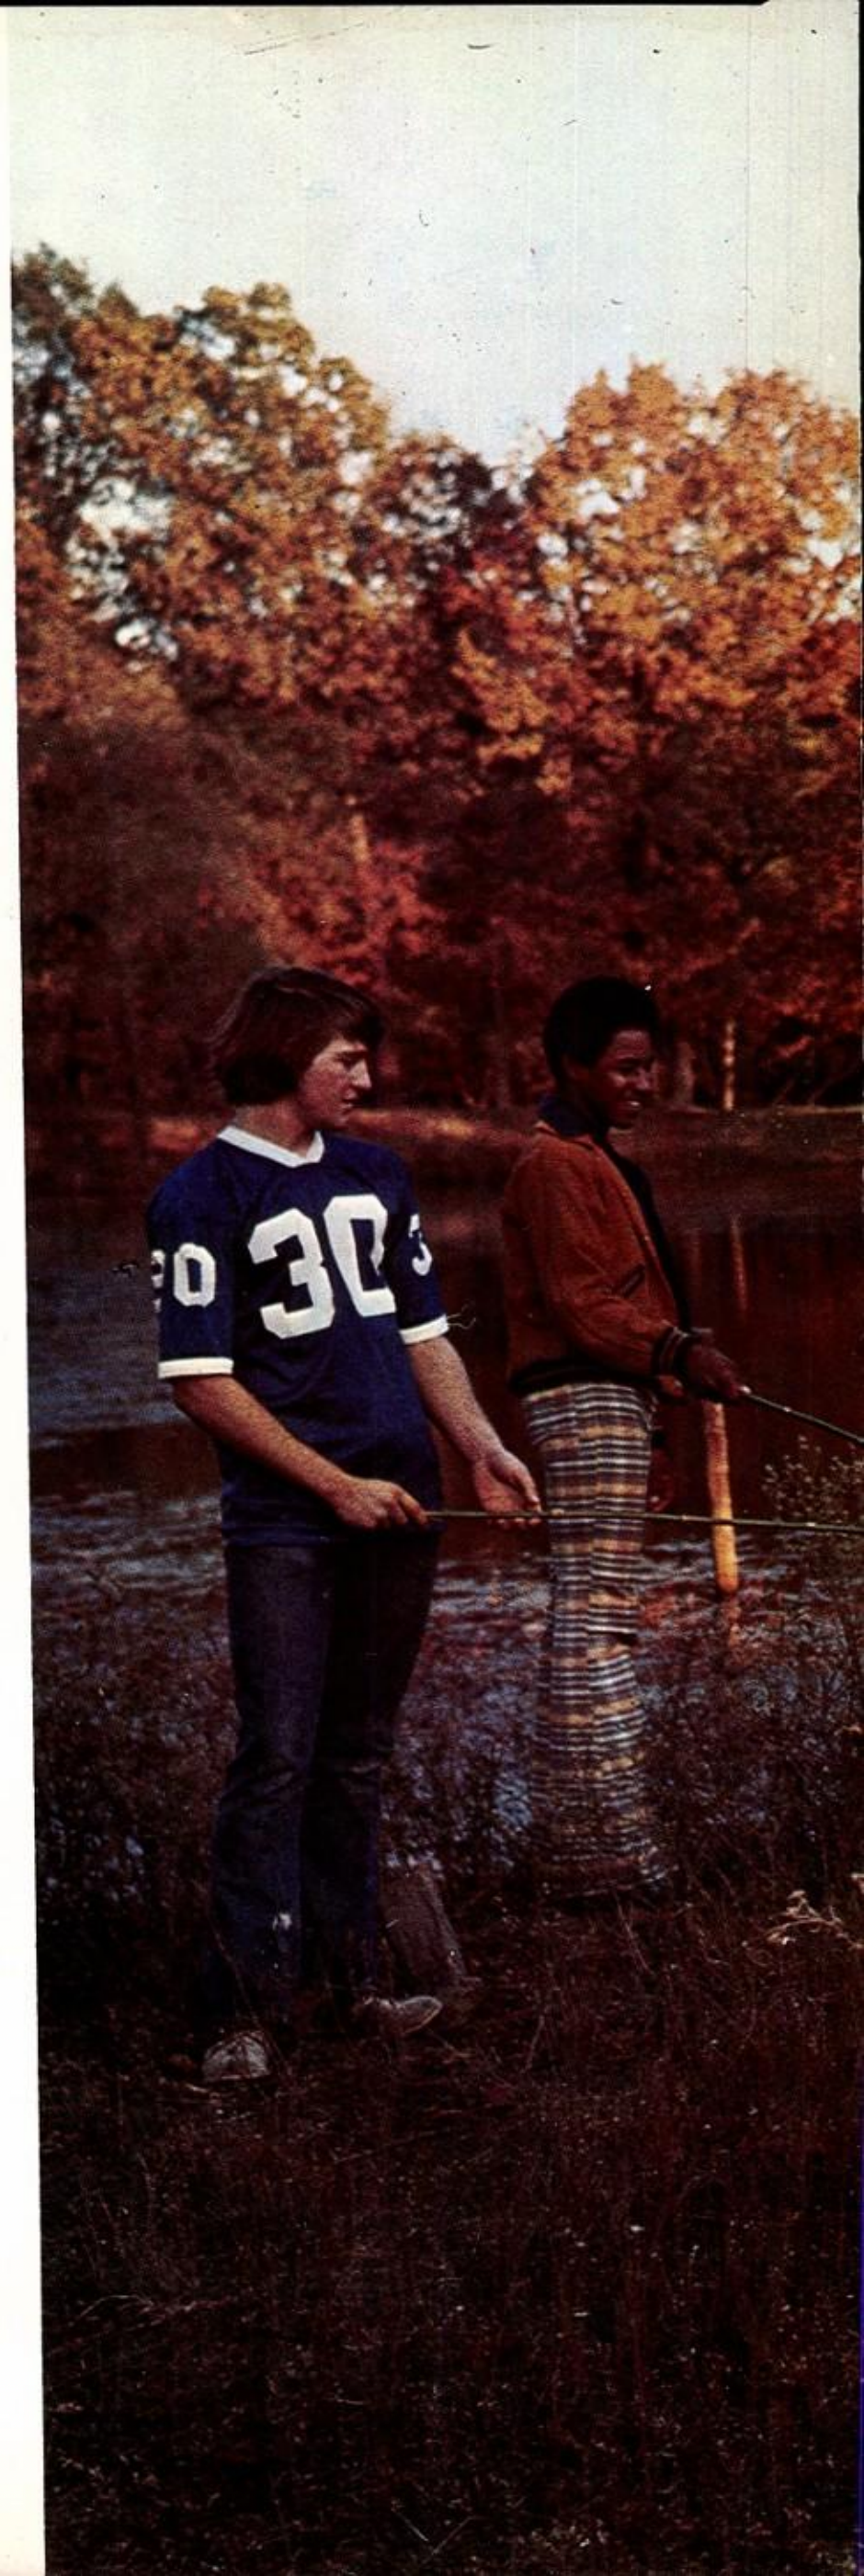




And sunshine is funtime

We're happy, so happy with the simple things

. . . Like roasting weiners over pungent outdoor coals as the long shadows of an autumn sun pierce through trees' masses of gold, orange and red, the lakes and streams mirroring their brilliant beauty . . . Precious moments like this say to us, "Lose no happy day or hour, for Time will never bring them back."



Our souls seek the sunshine, too

The great outdoors is the soul's luxury and a qualified teacher of God, of nature and of life . . . and the sunshine of life. It is a companionable companion in solitude or when shared with others.

Homecoming, parade floats, White Christmas for the unfortunate, the Powderpuff Rally, elections and other deviations from normal routine . . . The Student Council and other organizations have provided many of the extracurricular activities that we've enjoyed and which have added a touch of spice to school days.

Associations

SCHOOL FLOAT in fall County Livestock Show parade was one of Council's early projects.

Council spearheads student activities

Student Council's year started rolling with summer workshops and Inter-City meetings. Projects have moved from one to another smoothly and successfully. Among the top ones were Homecoming, float in Livestock Show parade, Powderpuff game, White Christmas, and exchange assemblies.

COUNCIL OFFICERS this year have been Wade Currie, pres., Rose Simpson, v.pres., and I'Lisa Vansandt, sec.

AND WHO could forget the Powderpuff game.

I'Lisa Vansandt

Homecoming Queen

QUEEN I'LISA and Maid-of-Honor Elaine DuMond share royal honors.

Excitement fills blue-gold's big moment

SUPT. DAVID EAST presents queen yellow roses and does honor of placing crown on her head moments later.

CORONATION CEREMONIES the afternoon of Oct. 12 highlighted a day packed with Homecoming activities which began with a pep assembly that morning and ended with presentation of royalty at Dragon field that night. The royal court included Nikki Robinson and Maid-of-Honor Elaine DuMond, seated in front, Queen I'Lisa Vansandt, seated, center, and standing, l. to r., Sheila Spears, Melanie Leibrock, Susan Anderson, Debbie Green, Jeannette Thomas, Nancy Kestner and Rose Simpson. The girls' escorts, not pictured, in order their names are listed, were Keith Mooney, Bruce Fulton, David Wright, David McMaster, Allan Mooney, Ronnie Childers, Roger Gilbert, David Allen, Ronald Ellis, and David Jessup.

A magic day it was!

THIS WAS queen just an hour before big moment. At far right, queen and escort David Wright in Dragon Field promenade.

Dragon spirit, Roarin' 20s revived at Homecoming

Bands, pep squads, Dragon fans made assemblies lively

Bands and pep squads supplied the pomp behind many lively assemblies in the gym this year, and DHSers were always in a cheering mood. The annual exchange assemblies with Stuttgart High, the extra special ones on Homecoming Day and others kept the old Dragon spirit high.

"LONG TIME COMIN' " band always brought thrills with its new original numbers.

TYPICAL scene at Dragon pep assembly.

REMEMBER the day cheerleaders decided to do their 'Roarin' 20's' performance? And Scotty Ricketts' Elvis act for Homecoming royalty?

Juniors make hit with 'Rocket in His Pocket'

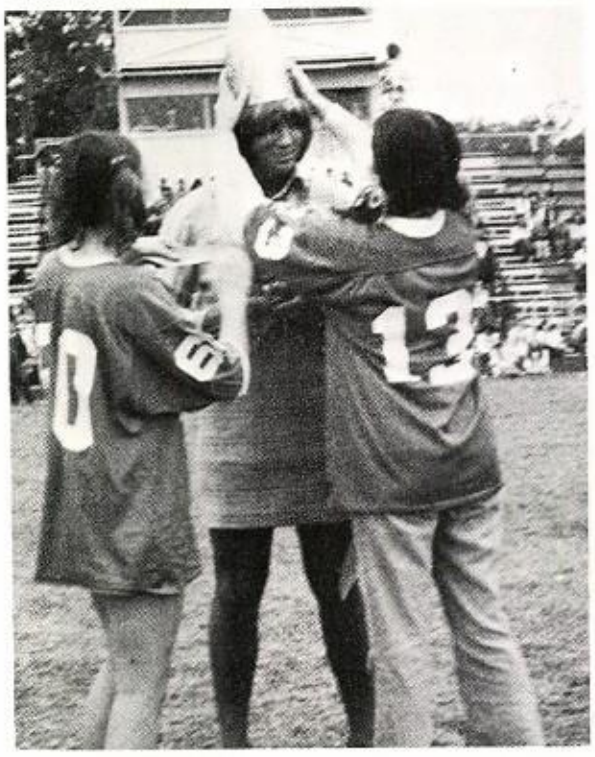
NEW TEACHER, Mr. Agnew, played by David McCord, tries to sympathize with another teacher with problems, Miss Chisel, played by Beverly Kirkpatrick.

Powderpuff Derby time to clown



WHEN IT'S time for girls to play football and boys to become royalty, it's funtime at DHS. At right, Ken Barr is crowned "queen" by Elaine DuMond and Robin Stephenson and is presented rice stalks. Farther right, a closeup of queen.

DON'T KNOW whether ball is a fumble or dead, but both teams seem to be scrambling for it. At left is the Powderpuff Derby band, though hardly recognized as musicians.

Recognized by fellow students for exemplary citizenship, talent, scholastic ability, attainments, friendliness, versatility, manners, genteelness, sportsmanship, good looks and other qualities are DHS Who's Who winners, runners-up and others recognized for excellence in various fields . . . And we proudly add them to DHS' "Hall of Fame."

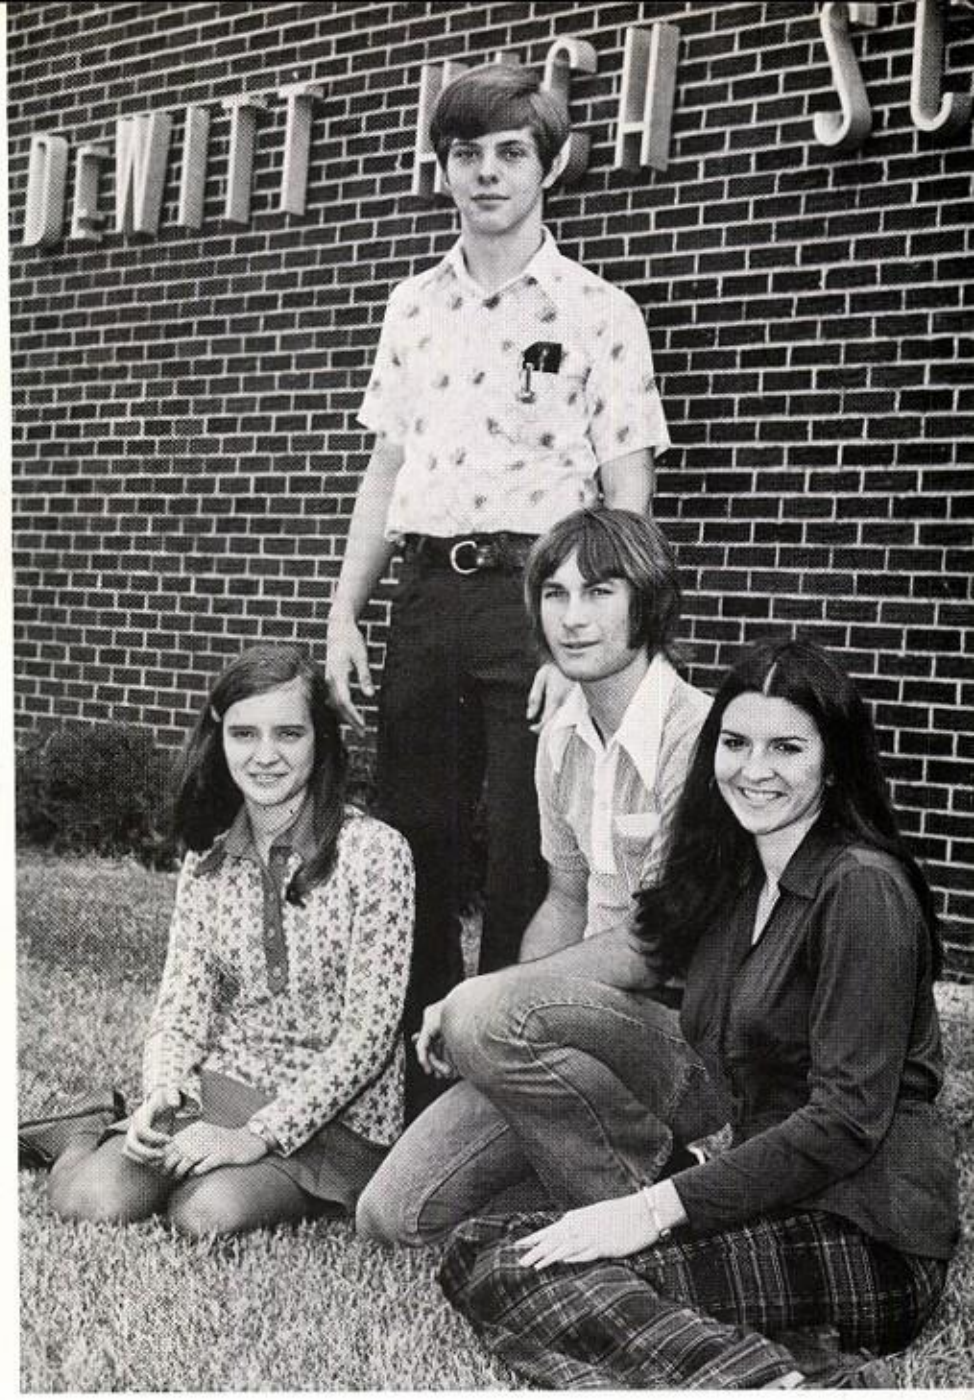
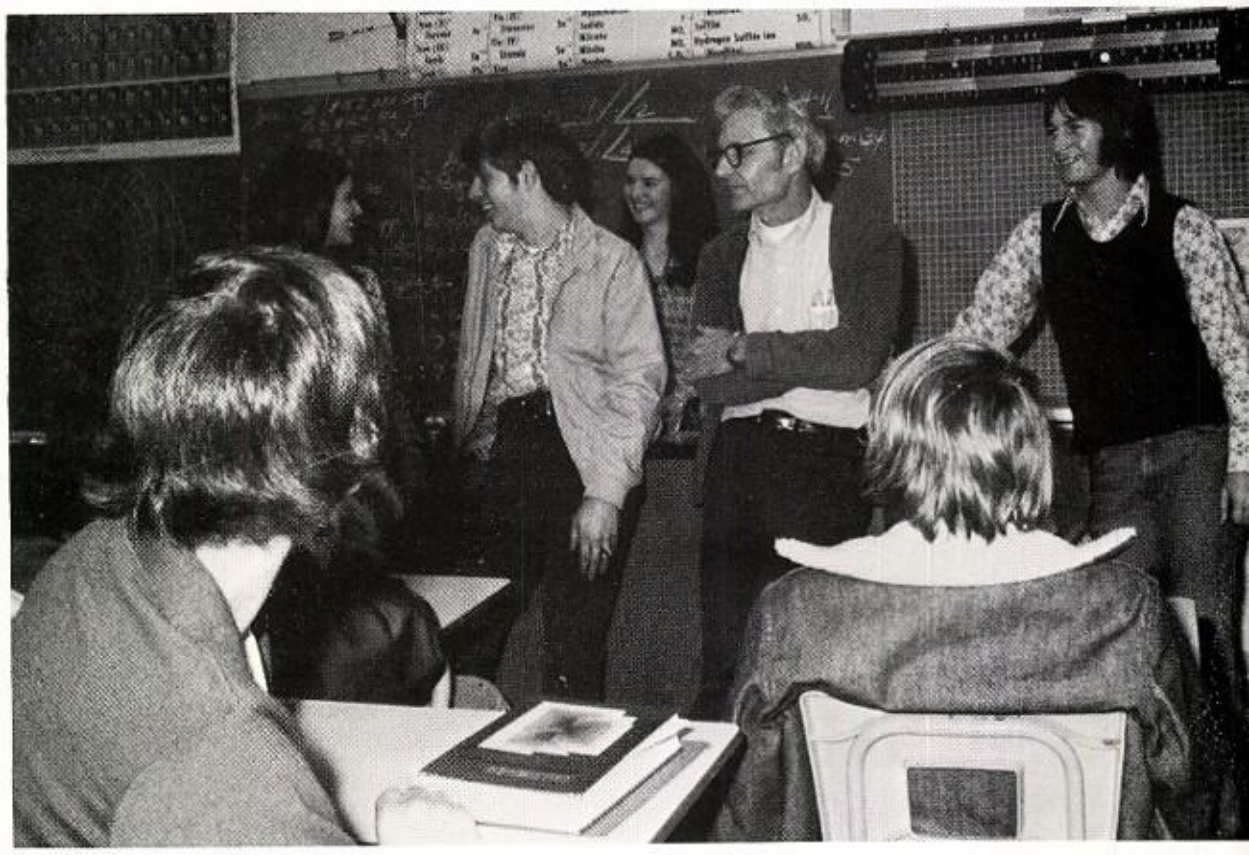
Beta members make up DHS' prestige group

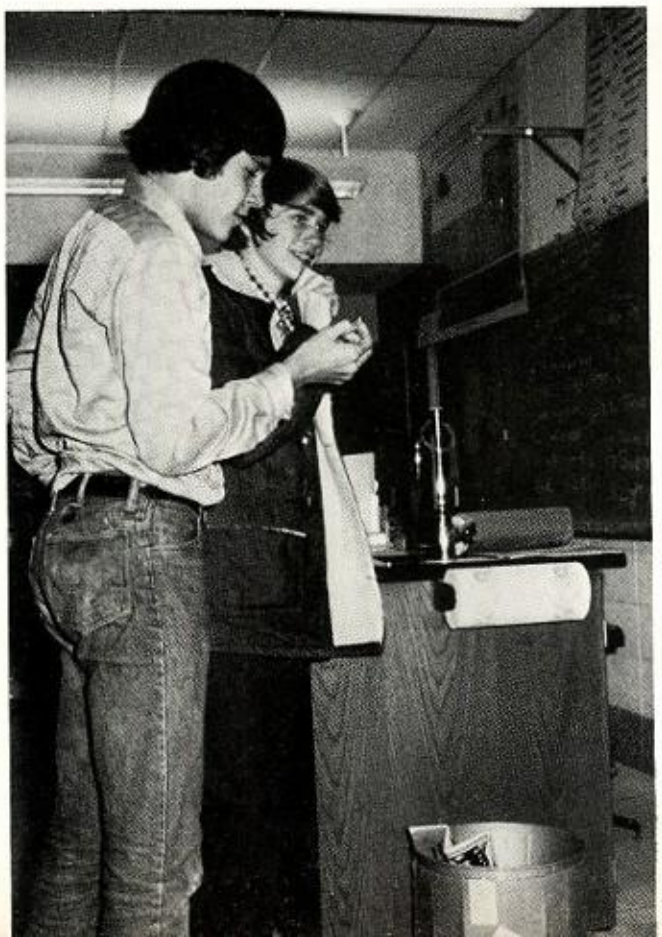
Beta Club members are part of this elite group because they are willing to study hard and to excel — not just in books, but in learning how young people should take responsible places in society. Their scholastic attainments indicate their qualities as human beings, and they stress these qualities in their everday school life. They sponsor projects and work hard at them, and they have their fun times, too.



OFFICERS for 1973-74 have been, l to r, Theresa Knoll, sec.; Johnny Theis, v.pres.; Keith Mooney, pres., and Robin Stephenson, treas.



MEMBERS meet informally with sponsor, Gerald Whitcomb, guiding their activities.



"LEADING the way" to end gum chewing in school, Mike Cross and David McMaster drop their "last" classroom wad in waste basket.

FTAs have teaching in mind?

Future teachers sometimes get teaching experience when elementary teachers are sick and when they assist at Center School. They sponsor Teacher Appreciation Week and other worthwhile activities throughout the year.

HEADING FTA group this year have been, l to r, Melinda Lawson, pres.; Terri Scroggins, v.pres.; Karen Hill, sec.; Gracie Jemerson, treas., and Roger Watkins, parliamentarian.

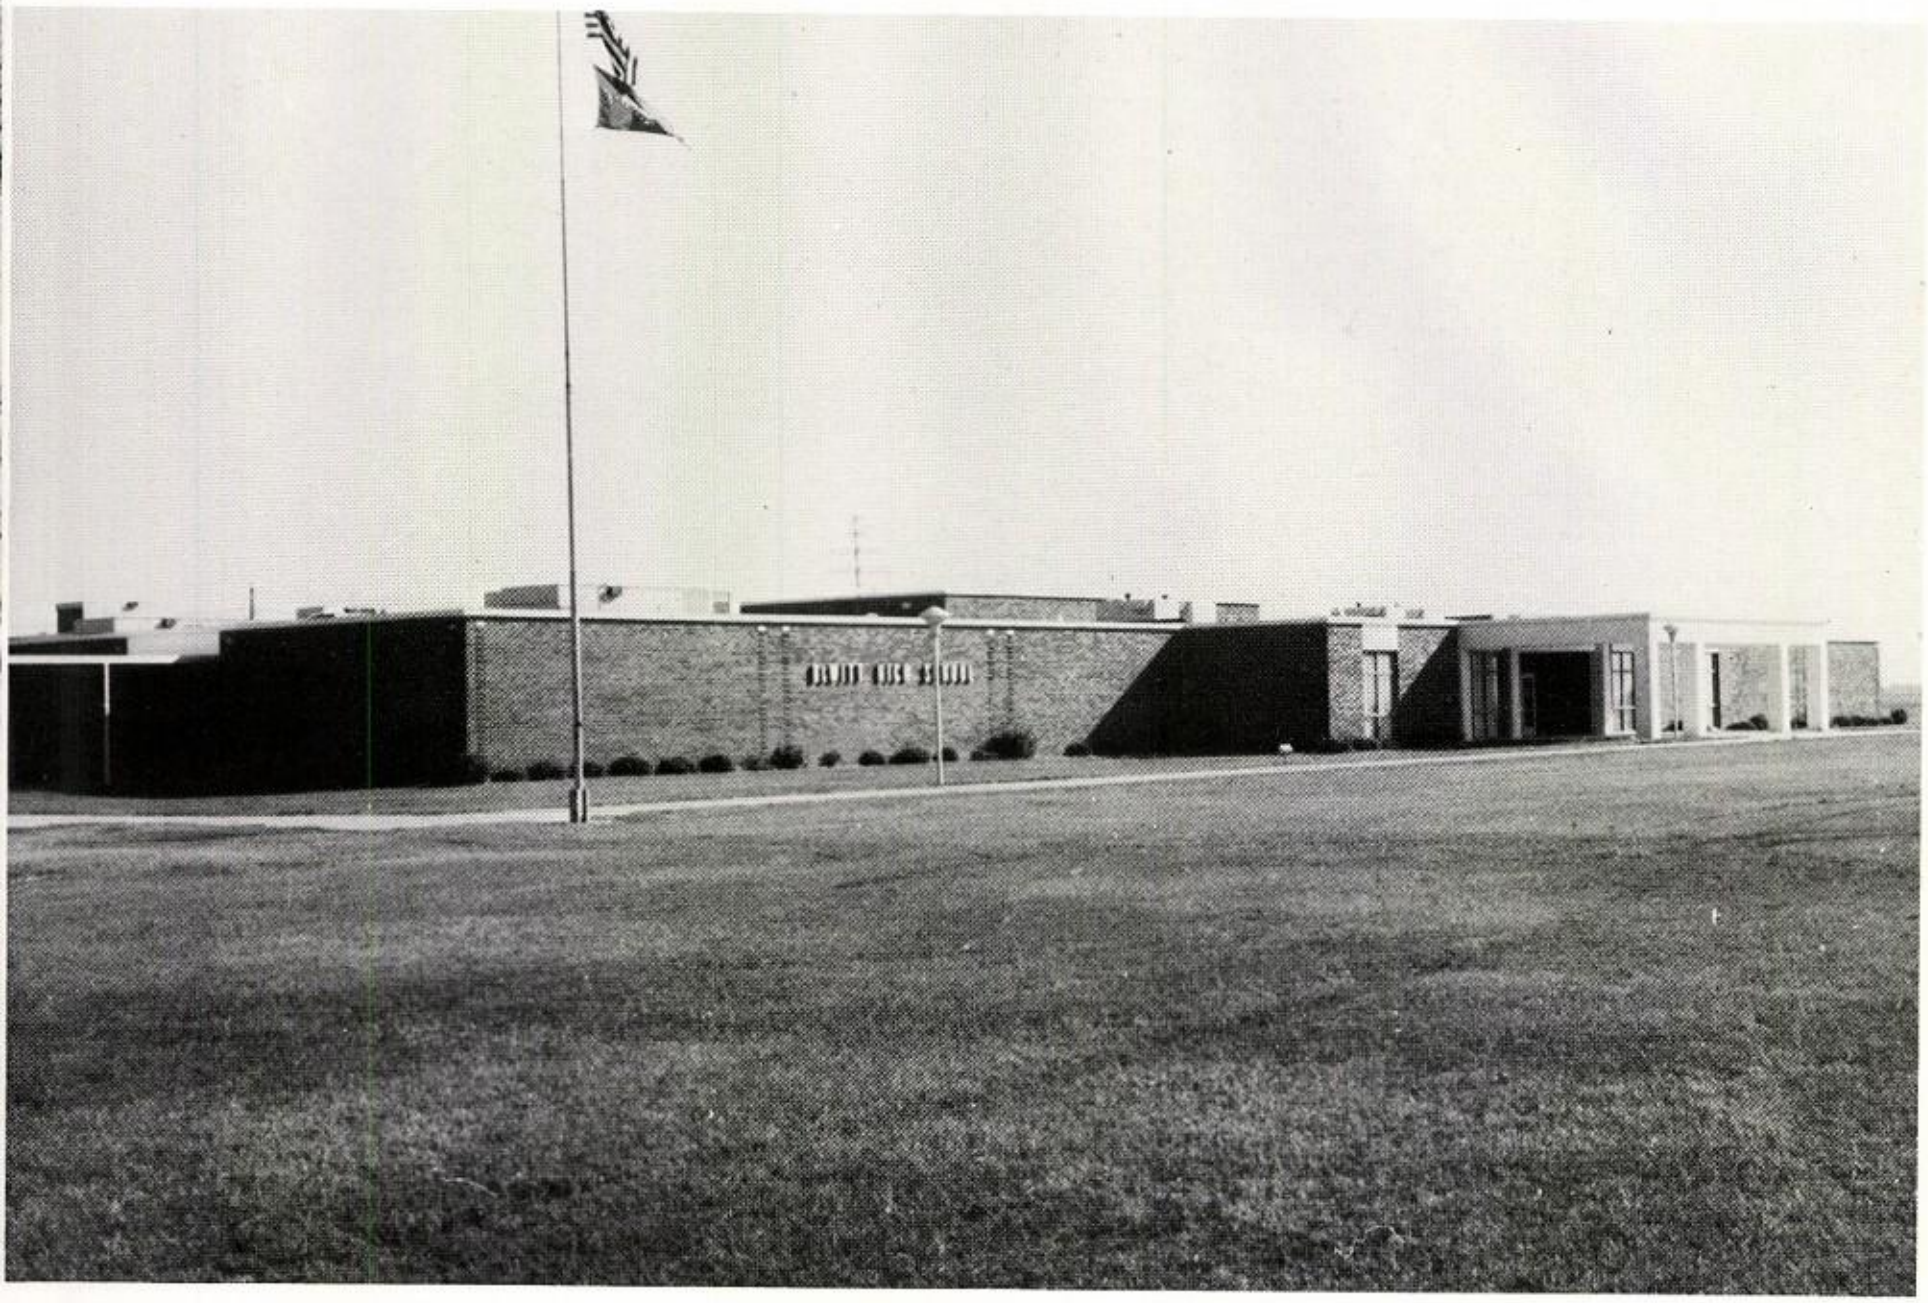
School Board

SCHOOL BOARD members, l to r, are Dr. John Hestir, Ed Coit, Stewart Jessup, Calvin AufderHeide, Mrs. Bess Graves, and Supt. David East.

The people on top of it all — the ones who rarely get the credit and maybe more often blame, are our school board members, all of them busy citizens, who give many hours of their time voluntarily so that we can have the best possible school system. The high school and middle school are both members of the North Central Association, which speaks well for efforts made in behalf of better education for us all.

Administration



Superintendent ponders energy crisis

The superintendent's office, the hub of the school district, was burdened enough before the energy crisis and the troublesome time changes came along. But Mr. East takes it all in stride, and the district has seen most efficient operation despite fuel and power shortages and Daylight Savings Time coming along during deep winter's short days. His main concern, of course, is keeping school standards high at all levels, and he works diligently to see that done.

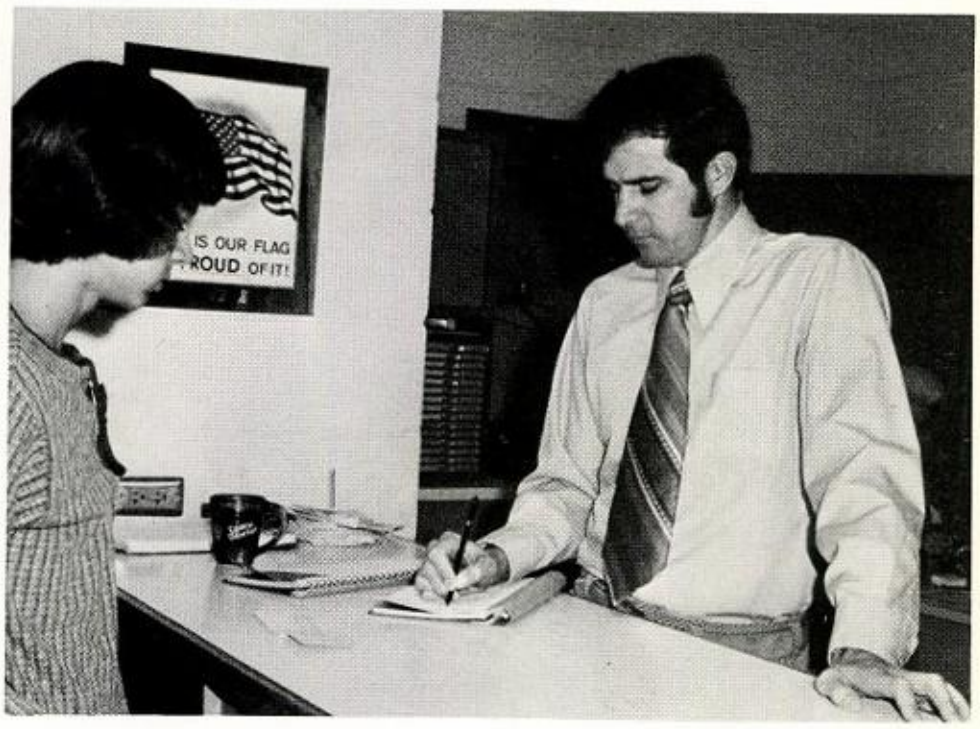
SUPT. DAVID EAST

ON WEEKENDS Mr. East, whose hobbies lean toward outdoor sports, likes to tinker with his boat, go fishing or hunting.

Principal's office has to be armed with all answers

PRIN. RAYMOND DUNBAR

No floors get as much wear as those of the principal's offices. In addition to the constancy of tending to administrative duties, the office is the central question-answer place, the problem center and a problem-solving place. Into this came a new principal last fall, Raymond Dunbar, but nothing seems to overwhelm him. He finds it all a matter of course, and to keep from getting too weary at times drops in at the teachers' lounge to chat and relax.



ASST. PRIN. CARROLL DENTON

MR. DENTON assumed duties of assistant principal last fall, but having been with DHS before, was right at home at the start. He works with both the principal and the counselors to help maintain a happy median throughout the school and talks things over with students needing assistance.

MR. DUNBAR here gives a bit of wise counsel to Debbie DeVore.

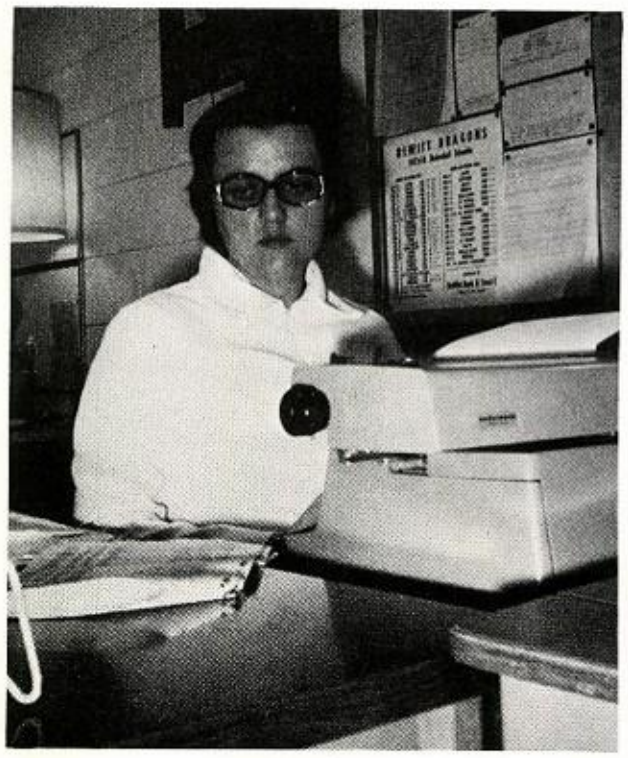
Traffic heavy in counselors' offices

Between scheduling and giving tests, DeWitt High's counselors have to cope with countless everyday problems that teenagers have. They are good listeners, patient and helpful in many areas of students' frustrating lives, contribute greatly to the welfare of DHS and to helping students better themselves and prepare for the future.

NO PROBLEM seems too great for Mrs. Margaret Anderson, counselor, seen here talking matter over with couple of students.

JAMES EMERSON, former DHS social studies teacher, now gives all his time to counseling. And helping young people seems to be "right down his alley."

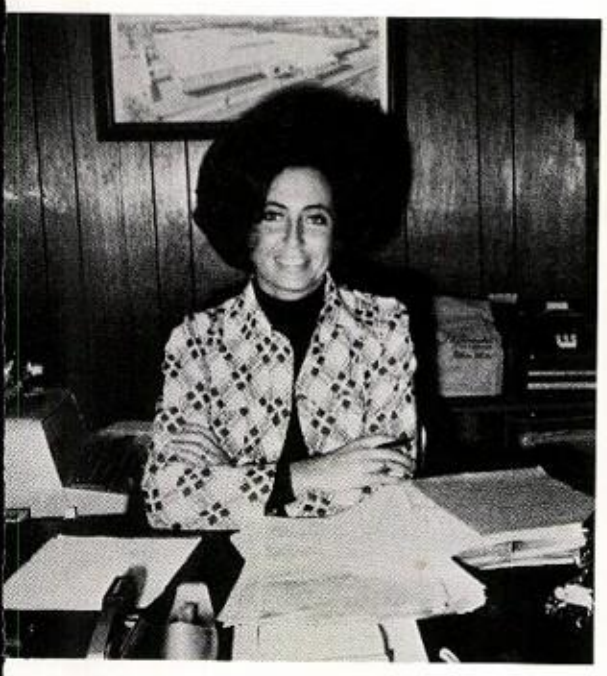
MRS. MARJORIE HORNBECK



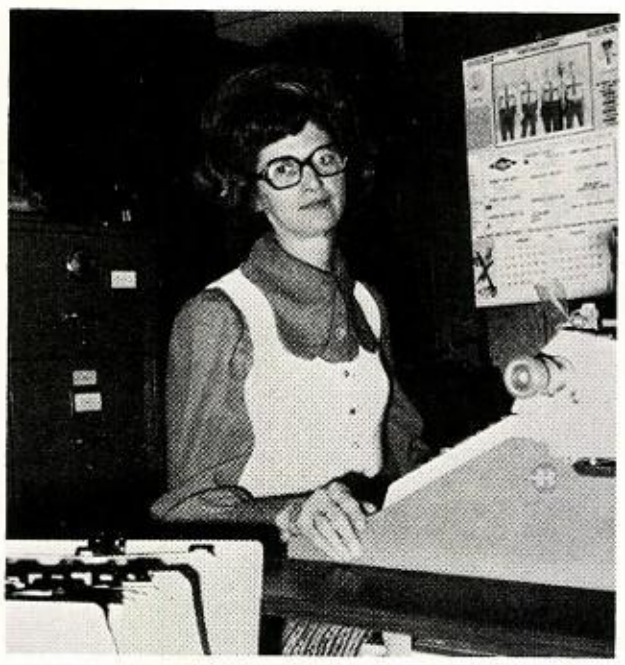
MRS. LOUISE MANNIS

SOMETIMES THE school offices become madhouses with the telephone ringing all the time, the onslaught of daily requests with which the secretaries are met, plus the routine typewriter and book work that has to be done But Mrs. Hornbeck and Mrs. Mannis are as calm as cucumbers in every crisis, every emergency — and there are always crises and emergencies!

Office assistants geared for all problems



MRS. SHIRLEY DILLION

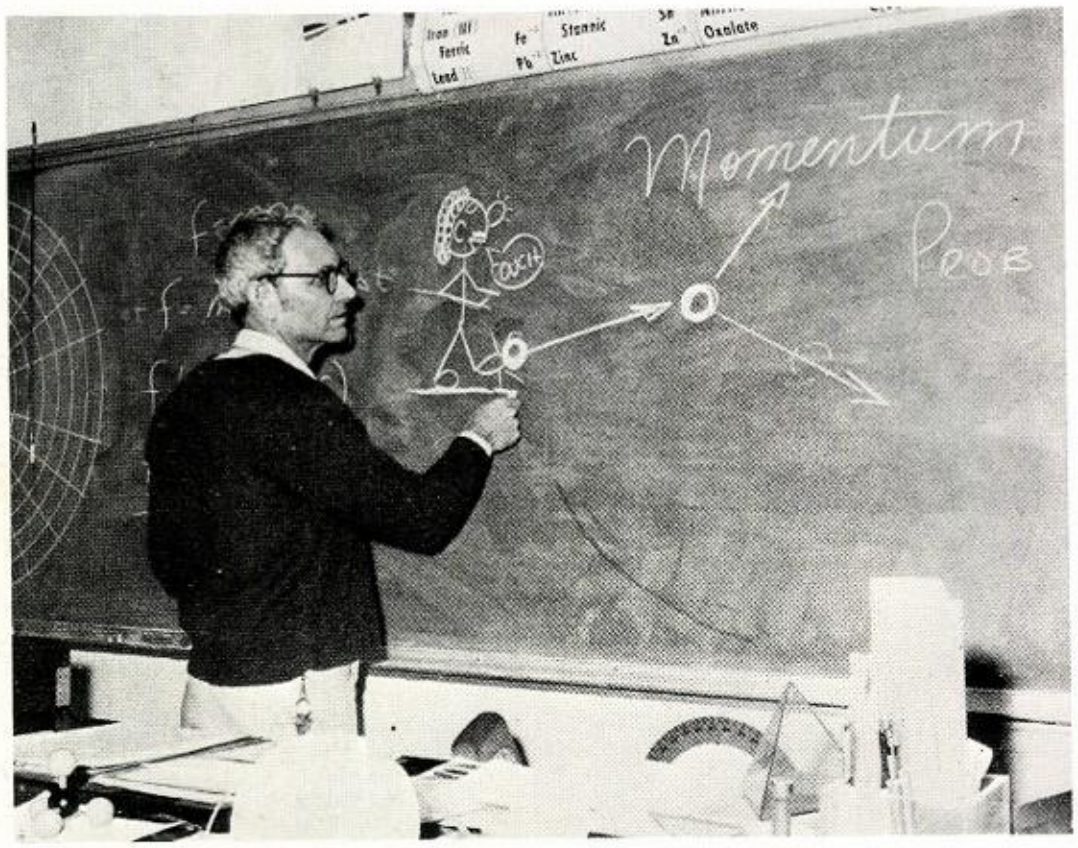


MRS. ROSEYELLEN GEORGE

THE SCHOOL District office, of course, is the hub of all things pertaining to every school, but there is never any sign of panic there, either. Although at times Mrs. Dillion, receptionist, and Mrs. George, bookkeeper, wonder if a day's work will ever get done — somehow it always does.

MRS. MONA HAGAN

MRS. HAGAN handles the chores of the Title I office with efficiency.



English, French, advanced math, chemistry, vocational exploration, study, memory work, exams, apprehension, anguish, confusion, headaches, triumph, failure, passing, wondering, and then college prep tests ... Some say it all has meaning.

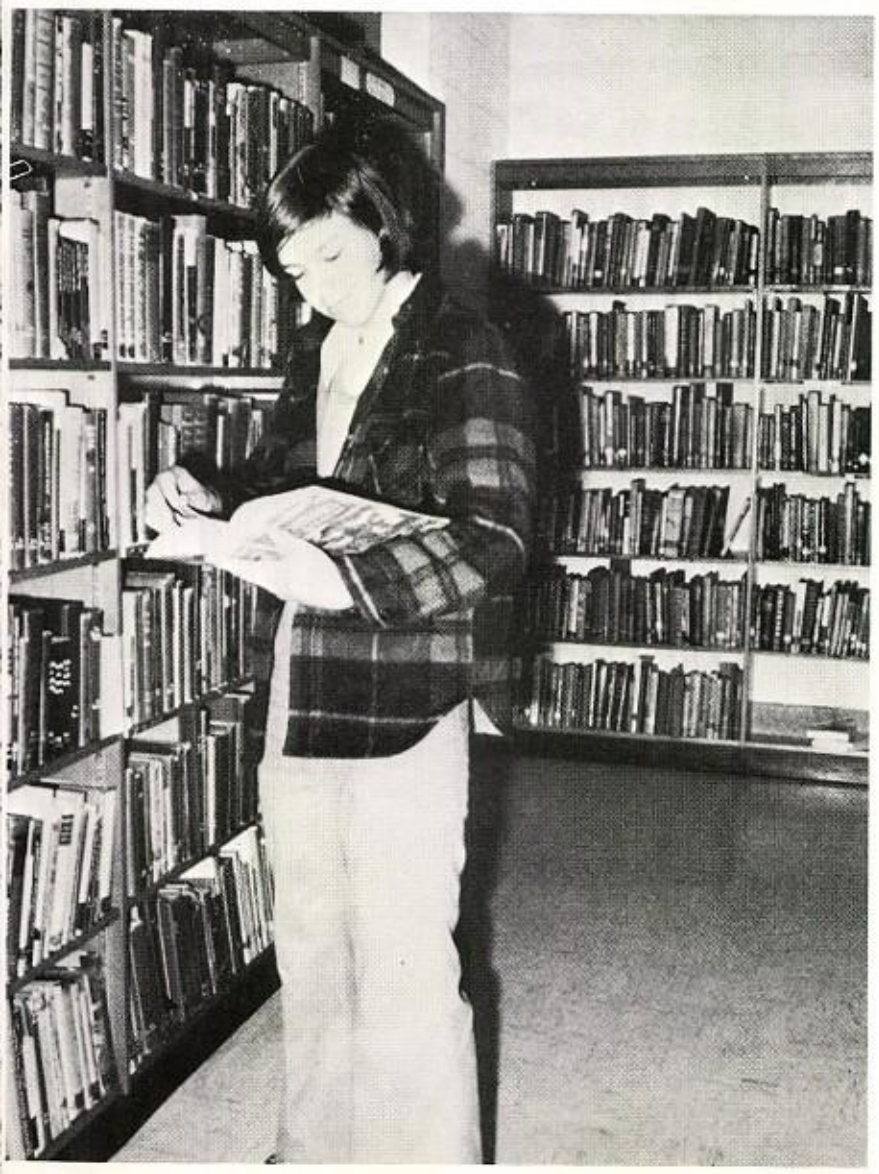
DeWitt High's resource center challenge to inquiring minds

DeWitt High boasts one of the most complete resource centers in the state, and it is a busy workshop for sought-after knowledge. In addition to its mint of books, large collection of recordings, films, slides for classroom use, it provides current magazines, newspapers and other periodicals to interest and help searching minds.

MRS. ELLEN West, librarian, is always ready to assist any student with his or her library needs.

Library Club an efficient, helpful group



THE ACTIVE Library Club helps to keep the library neat and books in order, and its members assist in the library during the day. They sponsor the annual Book Fair, participate in educational programs and projects, in local, district and state library organizations. This year's officers have been Elaine DuMond, president; Bobbye Edmondson, vice president; I'Lisa Vansandt, secretary; Paul Elliott, treasurer, and Marsha Robinson, reporter.

Language is the voice of minds and hearts . . .

The Language Arts department could easily be called the backbone of acquiring an education, for it is here that students acquire the skills that help them to achieve in other areas of study as well as in the world. Sentence structure and dealing with words is sometime tedious, but it helps us to better understand the English language. Literature shows us the beautiful and the ugly of both past and present and helps students to broaden their visions and to better understand those around them.

FRENCH STUDENTS enjoy preparing interesting bulletin boards, meeting and studying not only the fascinating language but French customs, and they enjoy parties and banquets at which they plan French menus and programs.

Never a dull moment in science classes

Warmed test tubes full of chemicals, stopwatches, castrophes . . . The quest for scientific knowledge goes on as biology, chemistry and physics students find proper uses of formulas and tools . . . and some may turn out to be scientists yet.

MR. WHITCOMB, above, helps relieve Bruce Eddy of worries momentarily. At right, Mr. Love holds breath while Shon Woodiel tries experiment.

Math, constant flurry of challenge, achievement

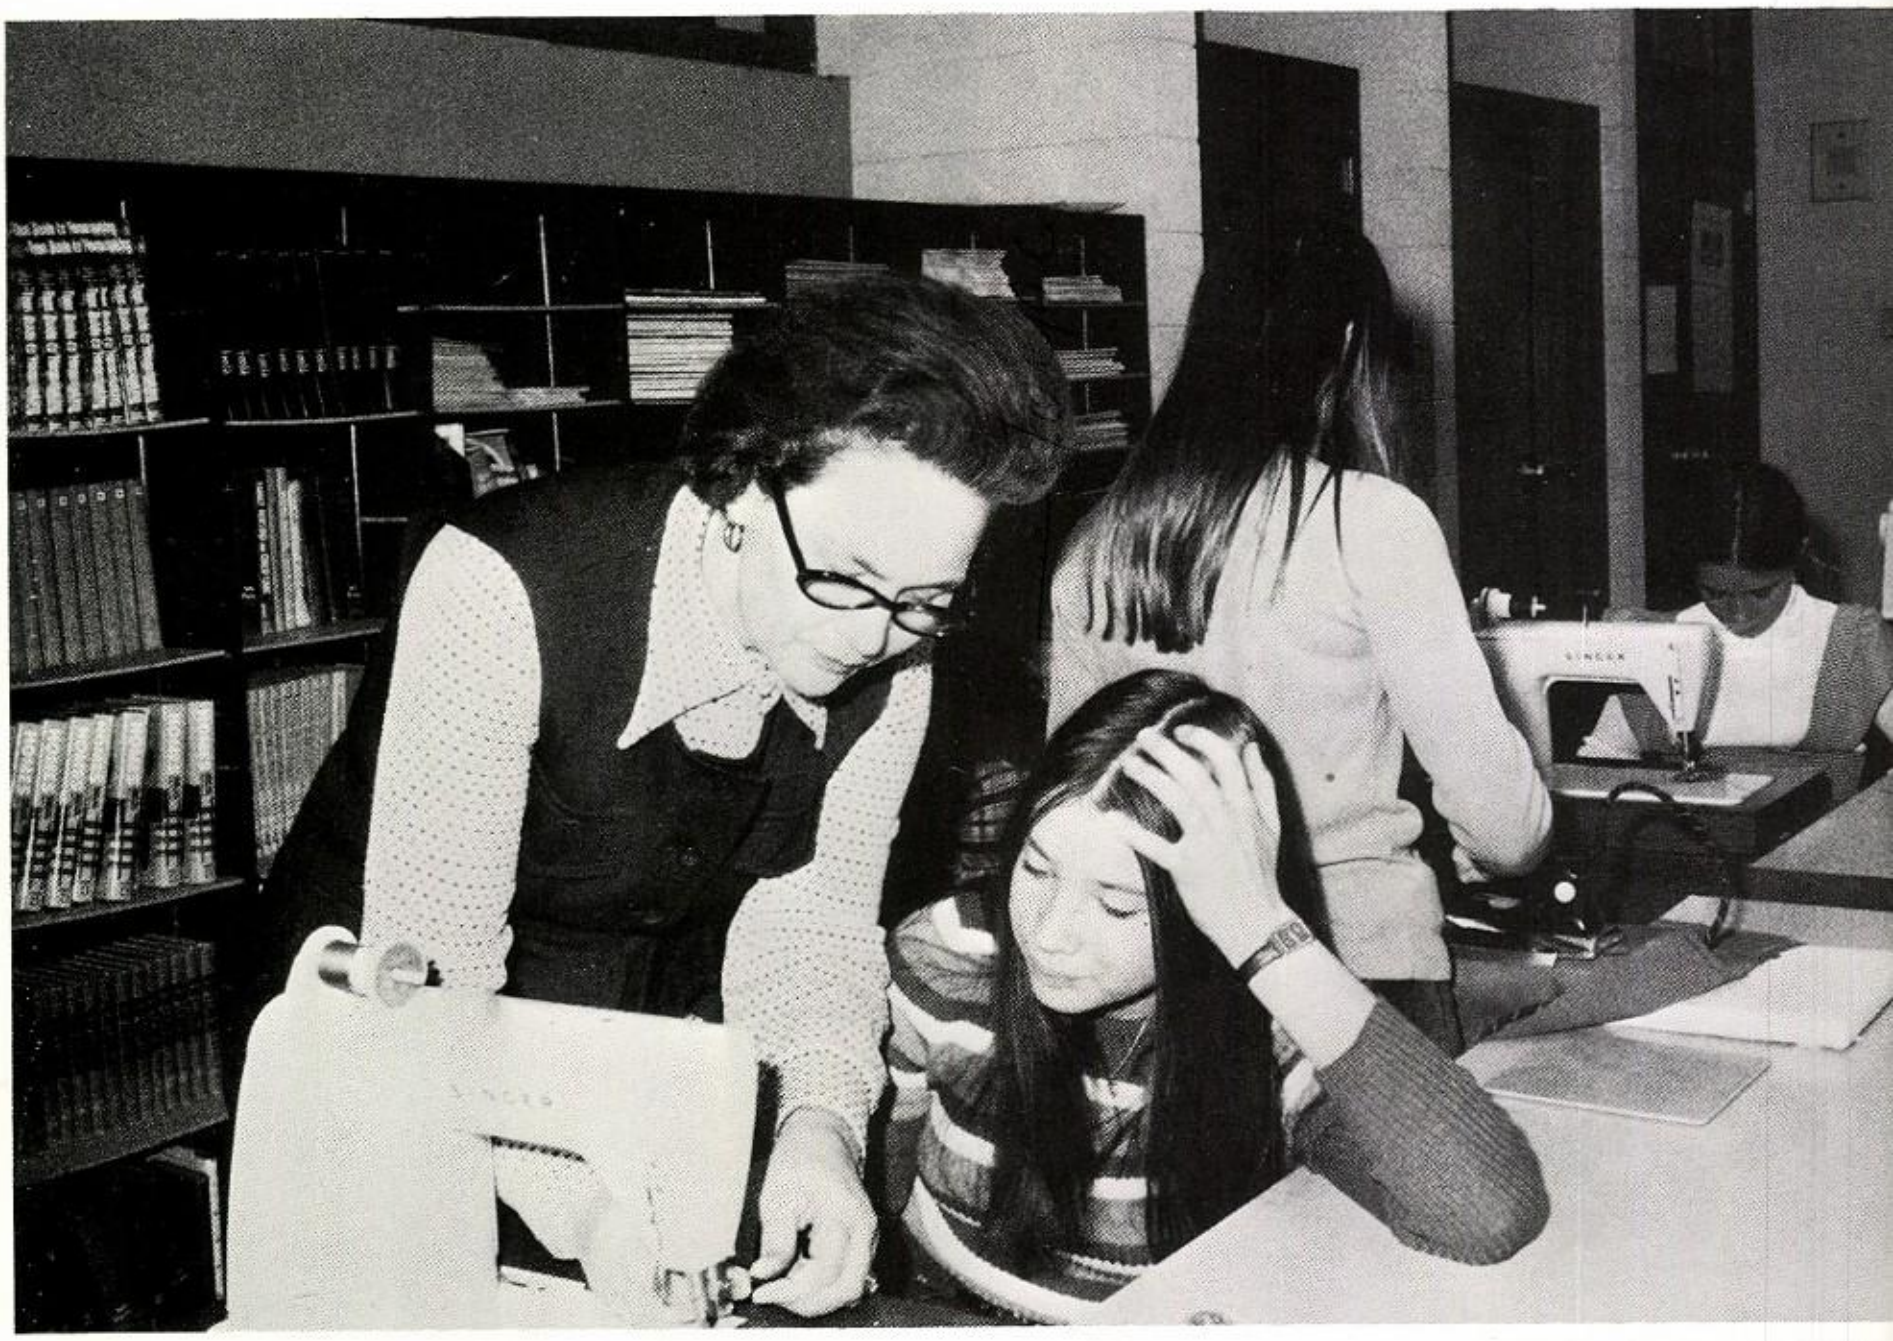
Each day in math presents new problems to solve and evaluate, and there are courses to fit every student's need . . . although some students admit they don't exactly fit math.

"THIS advanced math is too much for me!"

"NOW, THIS metric system gets me all confused."

MR. NEWSOM and bright scholars.

Home economics expands girls' horizons



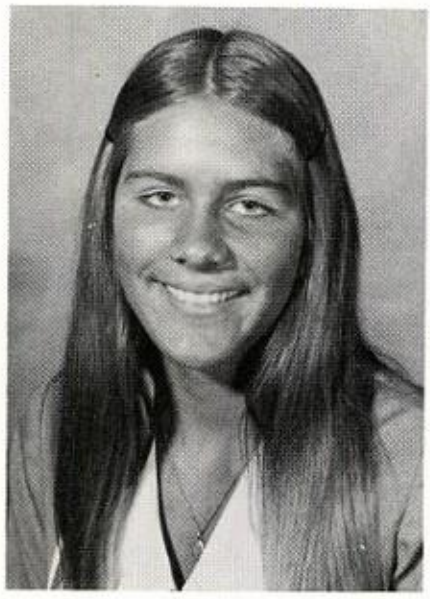
"MISS THE first buttonhole, Patricia, and you'll never button up."

Home economics is basic for the practical art of everyday living. The girls learn the importance of nutrition as well as planning well-balanced meals. They learn to budget money, shop, select dress or drapery materials or rugs in pleasing colors and motifs — all of which becomes meaningful experience.

GIRLS ENJOY learning crafts. Here, for example, dried materials turn into attractive bouquets to take home.

FHAs show qualities of female leadership

Leadership roles in society are part of what Future Homemakers prepare for. They exchange ideas and ideals at region and state meetings, on other trips, and become gifted in many arts which turn into pleasurable hobbies.



SUSAN ANDERSON becomes Federation president.

FBLA promotes business perception

Future Business Leaders of America help to produce the incentive in commercial students to learn more about the business world and encourage members to indulge into business and clerical fields for experience. Programs are geared toward self-improvement, what's new in the business world and what is expected of those entering it. FBLAs have their fun-times, too.

The Business Education Department offers comprehensive training to young people who are interested in business careers. Almost every student studies some phase of commercial education while in high school, and many take advantage of all of the courses offered.

Appreciation of native land, democracy emphasized in social studies' explorations

Social studies explore the past, present and future, and students investigate reasons why people act, think and feel as they do. They examine their relationship of learning to interests, abilities and motivations. They learn to classify lands, peoples and cultures, learn to have a deeper appreciation for their own country and its system.

Band indispensable part of DHS life

REAL SCHOOL and Dragon boosters are DeWitt High's and Junior High's bands. They provide the beat for pep rallies, the boom to the skies at games, marching, performing — and they participate in parades and delight folk with their excellent concerts. They work hard all year long. No wonder their sound is so great.

Journalists' efforts reap state, national awards

Lots more is behind each edition of Hi-Times and the yearbook than meets the eye. It has meant much "slaving," as one staffer put it. But it's a thrill to see one's efforts in print and personal work and projects win state and national awards. Hi-Times Traffic Safety drive has been in the top ten nationally 12 years, and placed 8th last summer.

AT THE helm this year were Dragon editor Elaine DuMond and Hi-Times editor Vicki Hambrick, who was also student adviser for the annual and chief photographer.

The good old Dragon spirit was there, but our major opponents were tougher competition this year, and our win-loss records see-sawed throughout both the football and basketball seasons. Track team, meanwhile was all set (at year-book copy deadline time), hopeful of making some new records, and fans were as eager as ever to see them do just that.

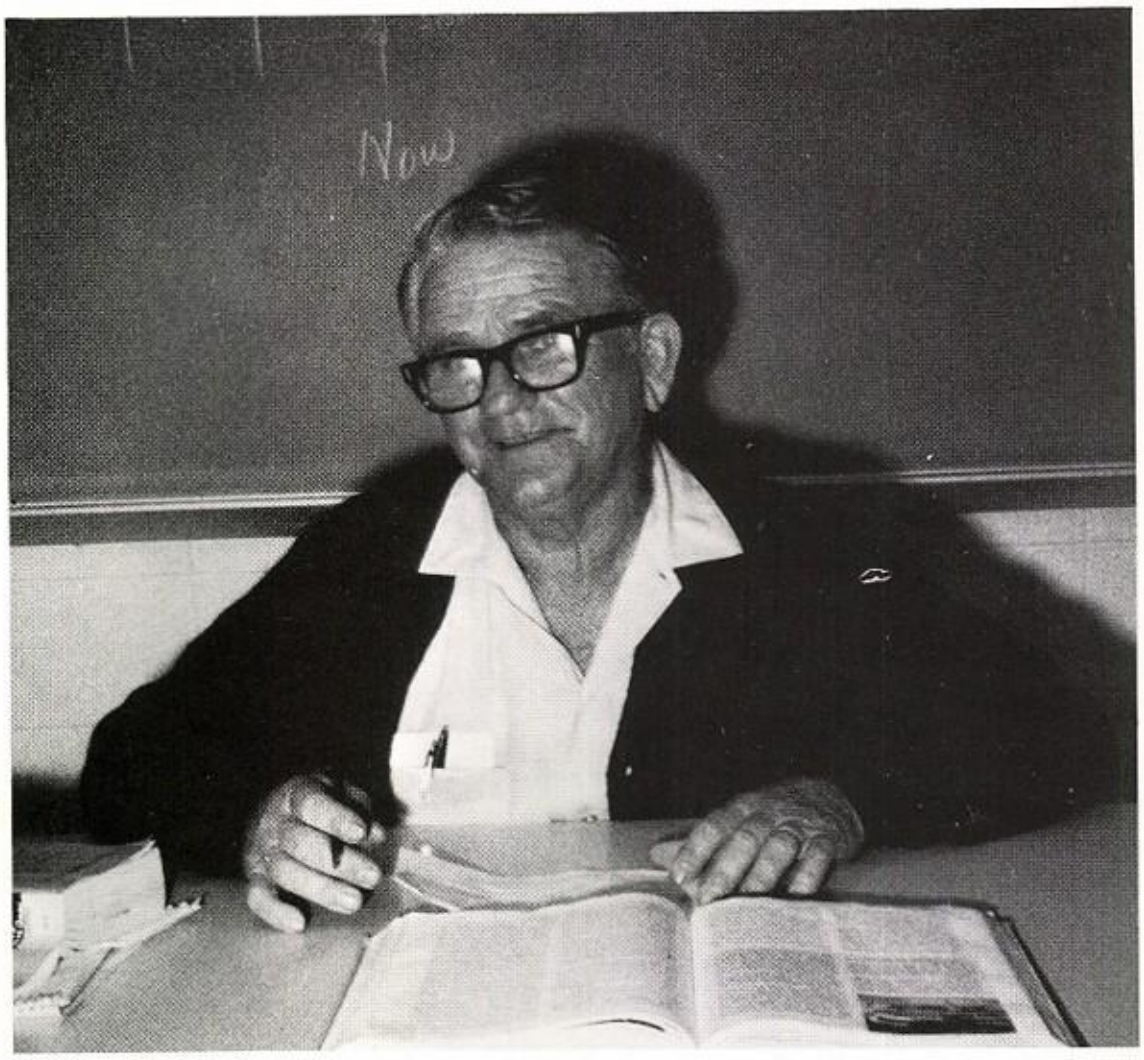
Cook leaves coaching behind, to remain athletic director



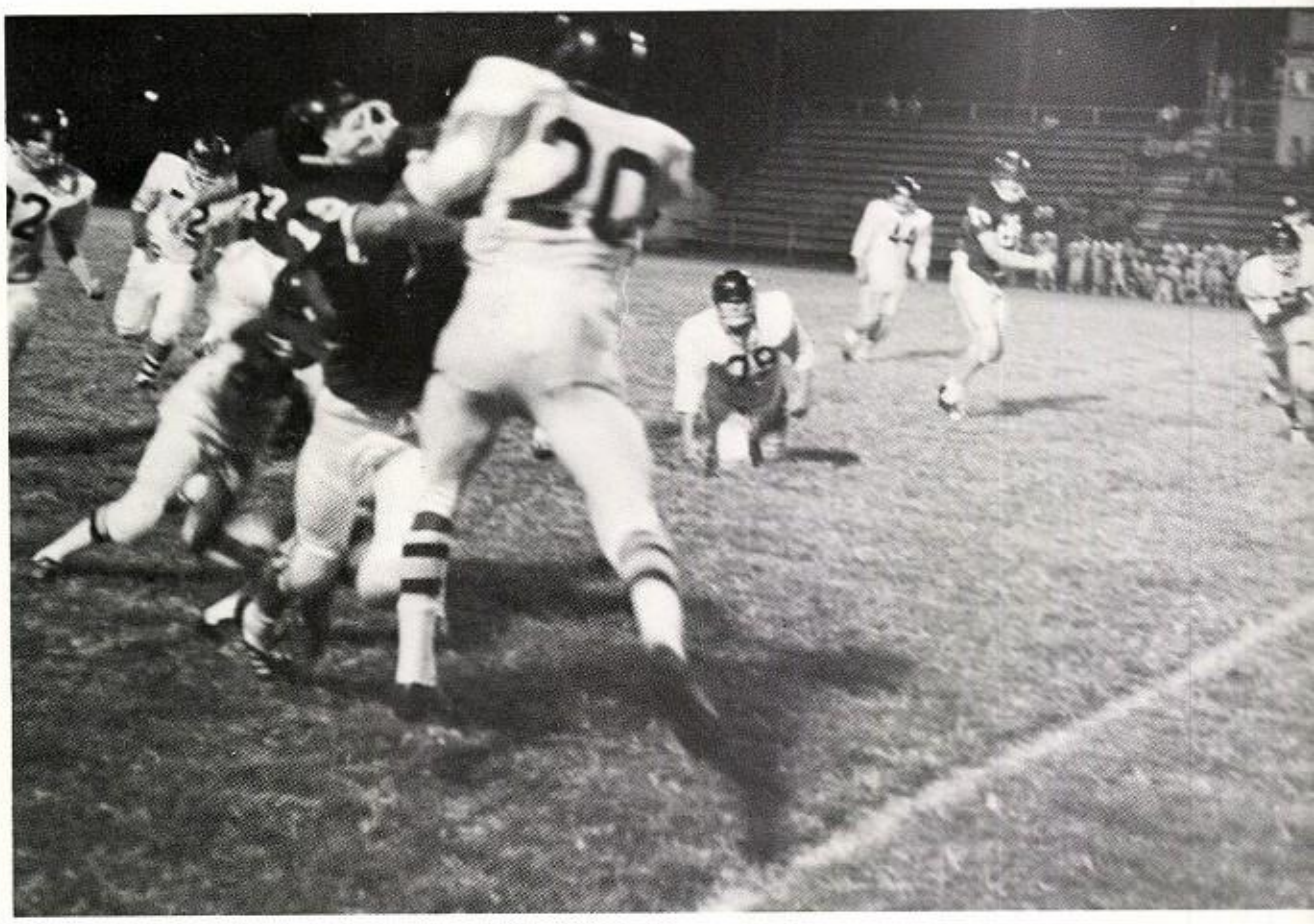
COACH SAM COOK

Has enviable record

After more than 30 years of coaching, most of it at DeWitt High, Sam Cook calls it quits in one sense of the word — just as to coaching, though. He'll remain as Athletic Director. Under Coach Cook, a legend in football annals, the Dragons have won 151 games and lost 55. They have scored 7,065 points, allowing their opponents 3,369. His teams won several district championships, and Dragons have placed many on All-District and All-State teams. Several of Cook's boys have also become top coaches in the state. One of his former players, Bobby Ashcraft, will succeed him here.

But Hershel stays on as coaches' assistant

HERSHEL, Coach Cook's canine assistant, plans to continue to run up and down the field with the Dragons. He has never missed one of Mr. Cook's practices or a home game and has football in his blood.



SCENE at DeWitt-Holly Grove game.

IT WAS ONE of those see-saw years for the Dragons. They started the football season off winning 24-12 over Jacksonville B, edged Dumas Bobcats 6-2, clipped Hughes Blue Devils 16-6, were upset by Marvell's Mustangs 22-14, then tied Star City Bulldogs 14-14, were smacked by Brinkley Tigers 45-8, routed Holly Grove Panthers 24-0, then took a 17-6 heartbreaking loss at Stuttgart Ricebirds' hands, were stung 20-6 by Wynne and lost the final game to Marion Patriots 20-12.

People, services we couldn't do without

SCHOOL NURSE Mrs. Barbara Jackson has a busy schedule going between the several schools, caring for young patients who become ill at school, keeping charts on students, consulting with their parents, making recommendations to help keep everybody healthy.

ANOTHER BUSY person is the system's dietitian, Mrs. Gwen Alter, who sees that all menus are nutritious and well-balanced. We'll never forget those yum-yum rolls and good ole rice dressing.

These patient people are good to us

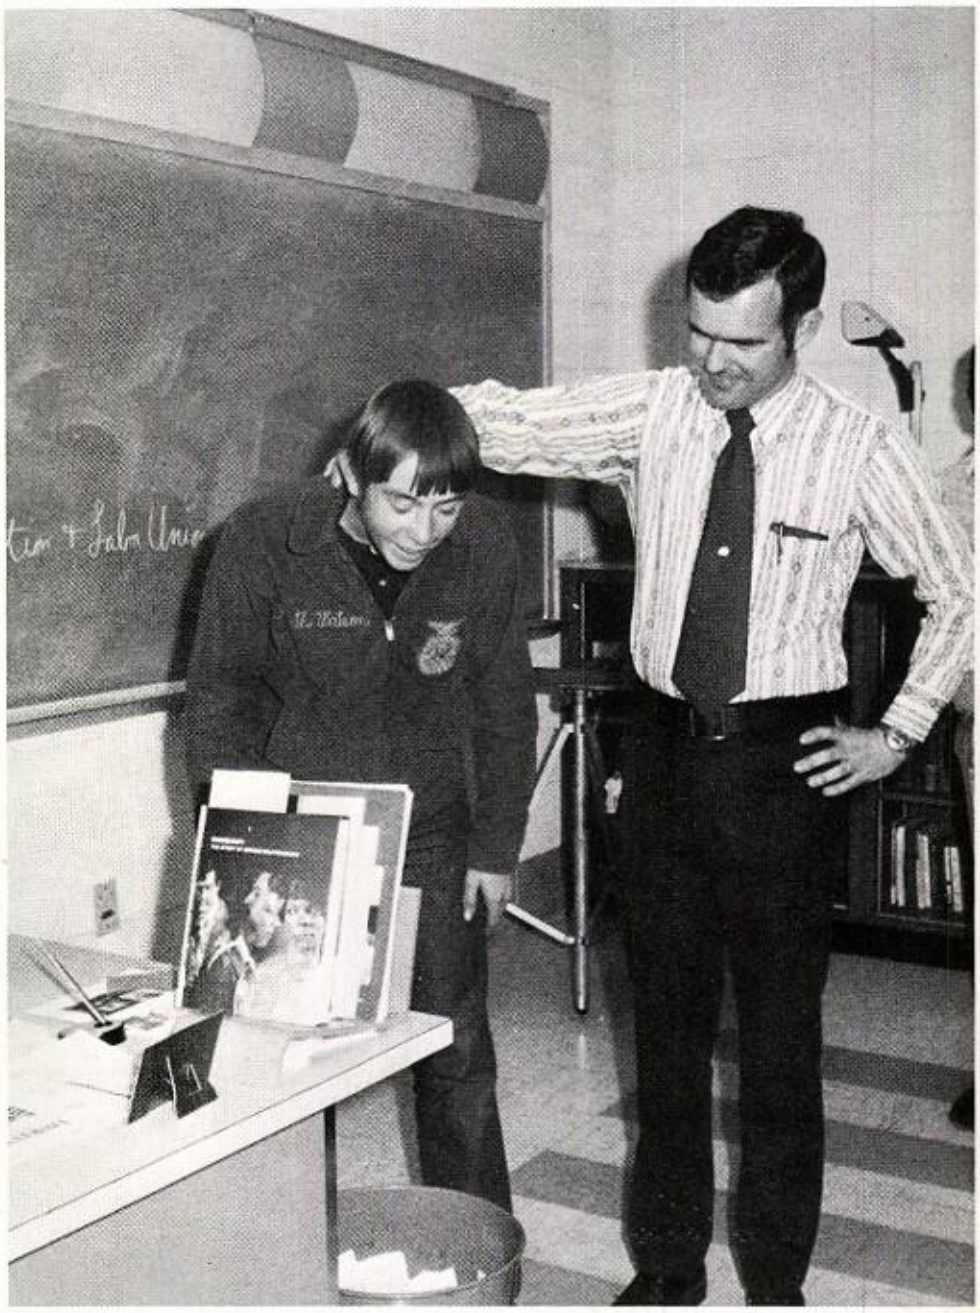
THESE GOOD people have fed us every day. From l to r, they are Mrs. Winnie Cotten, Mrs. Mary Jack Adams, Mrs. Lillie Duncan, supervisor, Mrs. Patsy Brown, and Mrs. Louise Shackelford.

SCHOOL'S NEW custodian is Larry Guimbellot.

THESE PATIENT "housekeepers" at DHS are Zella Clark, Icyrene Butler and Jessie Mae Shaw.

In Memoriam

Grover L. Moore, custodian who died Oct. 19, 1973 after four years of service to school, was deeply appreciated.



Class sponsors

CLASS SPONSORS take on a lot of extra-curricular work as have these: Mrs. Jane Davis and Mrs. Bobby Bennett, sophomores; Mrs. Linda Lepine and David Magness, juniors; Mrs. Carolyn Turner and Mrs. Nancy Lott, freshmen, and Mrs. Mona Briggs and Marshall Gravette, seniors.

Images

Class of 1976

Becoming a Sophomore is like having a date with destiny. After a hard row of subjects in the freshman year, study lets up a little bit, and sophomores take more interest in activities, serve on important committees and accept new responsibilities. Decorating the school at Christmas is one of their well-done chores. They're real Dragon boosters, and work in Student Council too . . . Favorites voted by the class are Mike Wright and Susan Anderson, photo above, first, and runners-up at right, Mike Dunbar and Shelia Spears, and Jan Briggs and Larry Field and Mike Hornbeck (tie).

Winding up high school means a mountain of paperwork, college entrance and semester tests, but as the end-time draws near, Seniors begin to reflect the bittersweet memories of high school days. Joys of friendships, activities, special occasions, trips and all the funtimes more than counterbalance the rough spots, and the good will become the sunshine memories . . . Seniors' favorites are Wade Currie and Debbie Green, of course, and runners up, Steve Vos and Elaine DuMond, and Ken Barr and Nancy Kestner.

We pause to ponder as we cross a new bridge . . .

Seniors have looked forward to those final moments of high school for a long time. Now that they're closing in, emotions bubble and butterflies get in the stomach when thoughts of parting with classmates, some perhaps forever, haunt us. We'll miss underclassmen, too. "Tomorrow," which has seemed so great, at the moment is suddenly a mysterious vacuum, but as we cross the bridge, we hope we've left some sunshine behind and that all will enjoy much more of it in the years ahead.

. . . And as we contemplate the sunrises ahead

As You Turn Toward The Future . . .

No one, young person,
Knows better than you
What you can do . . .
And even you do not
Until you have tried.

But whatever you do,
Let it be of service
To your fellowman.

One who does no more with
His life than to provide for
His own material desires
May as well not have lived . . .

But he who performs
Real service to mankind
Will not go unpaid.

Have confidence in yourself; consider material things subordinate issues in life, and serve others in whatever you do.

MAY THESE WORDS HELP YOU TO BUILD A
LIFETIME OF SUCCESS AND HAPPINESS

AND REMEMBER — WE'RE ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE
